

MediCruit

Specialist Dental Recruitment
for permanent & locum staff

It's all about the team

Getting the right people for you and your practice

It's vital for practice efficiency to have the right team in place and at some point every practice will need a recruitment agency. The best agencies have access to a large pool of candidates from across the country, giving you the best opportunity to find a candidate with the ideal mix of skills and the right ethos to fit perfectly into your practice.

Making the right appointments is crucial for both your business and your patients, but it's one of those tasks that has to be done on top of "the day job", and often out of hours. That's why MediCruit has consultants available in the evening, who will do the legwork for you, by advertising the role, shortlisting suitable candidates and forwarding CVs, so you only get to see the very best candidates, saving you valuable time.

As the UK's largest dental job agency, MediCruit's years of experience means their team knows the best places to advertise in order to get the attention of the ideal candidates. With over 70,000 candidates in a database, they still reach even more individuals by advertising vacancies across the UK.

Online Candidate Search is accessible 24 hours a day via the MediCruit website and enables you to conduct an initial online search, using tailored filters, and request interesting CVs – a useful first step.

Searching for that dream job

For candidates, Online Candidate Search means instant exposure to any recruiting practice that does a search. This is flagged on the system meaning MediCruit's consultants can then make an introduction and hopefully secure you an interview.

Over £1,000 discount on selected recruitment fee
(Henry Schein
customers only)

With over 1,400 live roles registered at any one time, MediCruit have a large database of potential roles for you, easily searchable using their online function!

MediCruit can also help you write CVs, prepare for interviews and offer support where it will be helpful. It's all part of the service.

With a proven track record in dental recruitment matching candidates with their perfect job since 2001 and backed by highly experience consultants, MediCruit are your trusted partner for all your recruitment needs.

 HENRY SCHEIN[®]
MEDICRUIT